Todo Backup Advanced Server 13.0.0.0 Crack {New} (Direct Link) tzs.rar.The present invention relates to a modular surveillance system for securing the perimeter of a piece of equipment such as a piece of industrial machinery (e.g., a material handling vehicle (e.g., a forklift, a reach stacker, etc.)), that has a wireless camera and is installed in an open space, and a security guard is stationed within the equipment for observing the camera. More particularly, the present invention relates to such a modular surveillance system that stores information for identifying the equipment such as an external ID number, a serial number, an internal ID number, a model number, an external shape, an internal shape, and an external surface pattern of the equipment in a storage medium of the camera and records the information as an image or a video, and that also includes a security guard that outputs the information as an image or a video. Losses due to theft and unauthorized use of industrial machinery such as the aforementioned material handling vehicle have increased in recent years, as a result of which the profitability and security of the entire facility has greatly deteriorated. As a countermeasure to this problem, proposals have been made for installing an imaging device for monitoring the area around industrial machinery such as a material handling vehicle in a facility, and for storing information on the object being monitored using the imaging device (e.g., the external shape, an internal shape, and an external surface pattern of the industrial machinery) in an integrated circuit (IC) or a hard disk (HD) so that the information can be read by a guard or
